

The Husqvarna 701 launched in SA

The sexy new bikes were unveiled at a glitzy function at the Bikers Warehouse in Malibongwe drive. Husqvarna is quite aggressive with their introduction of new models, this one has evolved from the famous 690 – and there are two street models on their way soon... watch this space. Elsewhere in the mag, we have a launch story on the enduro version of the 701 – and we'll do a local test as soon as they become available. www.husqvarnamotorcycles.com for your closest dealer.

SSS Racing now manufacturing bash plates for dirtbikes - from R1150.00

Bash plates, or sump guards are designed to protect your bike's front and bottom frame and engine from damage caused by rocks and stones out on the trails. SSS Manufacture theirs from 4.5mm aluminium and include all stainless steel mounting nuts, bolts and brackets. The plates are available for a variety of makes and models. The good news is, if you do not have a bash plate for your bike, take you bike in and they will design and manufacture one for you that will fit your bike 100%. Most dirt bike riders will inevitably say riding without one is not worth the risk. The cost of a bash plate is small compared to what you'd need to pay to replace your cases, shifters, and brake pedals . One stone will easily put a hole in your casing, make you lose all your oil and seize your engine.

Email sssracing@mweb.co.za

TOUR-X 4

READY FOR ANYTHING

The Tour-X 4 must be one of the most versatile helmets ever: adventure, grand touring or off road, and without the peak looks pretty good on a naked bike too! No matter the riding conditions, the Tour-X 4 is ready for it. Can be used without visor with goggles

